[redacted] who has been Chairman of the Committee on Imagery Requirements and Exploitation for almost four years is retiring from CIA on 30 June. Previous to that he has been Chairman of two other USIB Committees on Exchanges and Critical Communications.

On behalf of the Board I would like to express appreciation for the valuable and dedicated service he has performed for the intelligence community during his career dating back to World War II. In particular, he has done an outstanding job in reorganizing COMIREX to provide integrated intelligence guidance for both collection and exploitation of imagery. I want to commend him for his contribution to our intelligence effort and wish him every success in his future endeavours.

To succeed him as Chairman of COMIREX I propose, if there is no objection, to appoint [redacted] who is well qualified for this post, having served as CIA member of the Committee for nearly two years.
